

Lesson 21: Y at the End of a Word or Syllable

Phonics Rule: At the end of a word or a syllable, Y is a vowel, and says Long E. Every syllable must have a vowel, and Y is the vowel.

Directions: In these words, Y is the suffix -y (pronounced “ee”) or it is in the suffix -ly (pronounced “lee”). Have your student read the following words, making sure he or she understands all of the meanings of the words. Then read the story.

Lucy	buggy	twen/ty
Sally	ice	thir/ty
Billy	icy	for/ty
Gary	angry	fif/ty
pretty	fairy	six/ty
baby	greedy	seven/ty
jelly	envy	eigh/ty
belly	body	nine/ty
happy	jelly/beans	fam/i/ly
baggy	hobby	lobby
silly	no/bod/y	any

fussy

funny

windy

bunny

honey

money

Wendy

shady

yummy

sud/den/ly

near/ly

Bobby

Mon/op/o/ly

real/ly

name/ly

jewel/ry

sweet/ly

fair/ly

bare/ly

sure/ly

care/ful/ly

hope/ful/ly

ad/di/tion/al/ly

joy/ful/ly

Freddy

Daddy

A Windy Day

Bobby

Freddy

It was a windy, crispy day. Daddy and Bobby went for a run down the street. The leaves were flying in the pretty blue sky. Bobby's puppy ran with them. They were happy when they saw Freddy. He said, "May I run with you?"

"Yes, come with us, and bring your dog. He likes to run, too."

It has been hot, but not today. It is nice for a run.

Billy saw them. He was on his bike. He liked to ride. Can he go with them? “Yes, come with us.”

They need a snack as they run. Billy had some yummy candy. “Here, have some jelly/beans,” said Billy. “I love red and green jellybeans.”

They ran for two miles. The puppy was hot. Bobby was hot. It was time to stop and rest under a shady green tree. They all sat down in the green grass and had a drink. A pretty bunny ran by. The puppy and Freddy’s dog had a big drink from the pond. It is time to go home. Daddy had to pick up the puppy to take him home. Freddy’s big dog is not tired. He will run home with them. Billy rode his bike, so he was not tired. It was a fine day for a run. May/be they will have time to fly a kite on this windy day!

